UCHIDA LAYS PARLEY BREAK TO MOSCOW'S LACK OF FAITH

Foreign Minister At Tokio Issues Long Statement

BLAMES SOVIET

Repeated Their Genoa And Hague Tactics, He Says

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, Sept. 27.—With regard to the rupture of the Changchun conference, Count Uchida, Minister of Foreign Affairs today made the following announcement:

"The failure of the Changchun conference is a matter of regret to the Japanese Government, but it means no change in our policy of withdrawing our troops from Siberia. The withdrawal from Vladivostok and other mainland points will be concluded by the end of October. As for Saghalien, our retirement from the Northern or Russia half of the land will take place, as repeatedly stated, as soon as the Nikolaievek affair has been settled.

"The Japanese Government has no territorial design in this or any other connection. The Japanese Government has been earnestly striving to adjust the relations between the Japanese and the Siberian peoples, as well as with other countries and it certainly cannot be said that we have failed to show a liberal and conciliatory policy in meeting the views of other peoples and Governments.

"With an understanding, which we believed was very clear, our delegates met the representatives of the Chita and Soviet Governments at Changchun. But hardly had the conference opened before it became evident that our delegation was to meet difficulties of the same character in dealing with Moscow representatives as the European nations had met recently at Genoa and the Hague. It was made clear in advance that we sought a working arrangement with the Chita Government who would protect our frontiers from lawless incursions, terminate hostile propaganda, and give protection to Japanese and Korean residents in Siberia.

"We hoped to obtain the recognition of the rights of private ownership of property for our people and freedom to trade and conduct their affairs and these things, we believed, would benefit the unfortunate Russians in Siberia, as well as the approximately ten thousand Japanese and the Koreans, who still reside and attempt to conduct their business there by right of treaty with the former Government also of Russia. We had been led to believe that the Chita Government also wished to conclude such a arrangement, and that it understood very clearly that the occupation of the Northern half of the Island of Saghalien would not be discussed, except in connection with a consideration of the Nikolaievsk massacre, in which over seven hundred Japanese, including the Consul, had been massacred under circumstances of a particularly brutal character.

"In order to demonstrate Japan's good faith, the Japanese Government had ordered, and had actually begun, the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Siberian towns. Various groups of Russians as well as Japanese petitioned our Government not to withdraw the troops, fearing the development of lawlessness and warfare among Russian factions, as well as against Japanese. But in spite of each possibilities the Japanese Government, determined to give no further reason for criticism or suspicions of Japan's policy, decided to continue the withdrawal. In view of the fact that the Moscow Government, whose representatives at Changchun immediately assumed a dominant position over that of the Chita representatives, has persistently denied the right of private ownership of property in Enropean Russia, the Japanese Government cannot but doubt the sincerity of the Soviet intentions at Changchun and their willingness to enter into an agreement to terminate propaganda. However, the Japanese Government, in accordance with the wishes of the Japanese people, deeply sympathises with the afflicted Russian people and profoundly desires that peace and order may be maintained in Siberia."

Chinaware Barrage Proves Costly

Miss Dolly Fowler

MRS. Belle Sullivan was sentenced in a Chicago court to spend six months in jail and to pay a fine of $100 for hurling a catsup bottle, a sugar bowl and other bits of chinaware at Miss Dolly Fowler in a loop restaurant. Mrs. Sullivan declared Miss Fowler broke up her home and that when she saw her in a cafe she was unable to restrain herself. Julius Trot, who was Miss Fowler's companion, fired a revolver shot into the air to call the police, he declared.

NEW SCHEDULES APPROVED; TARIFF BOARD ENDS WORK

Increases Going Into Effect Soon Swell Revenues Of China Many Millions

General tariff schedules that make an effective five percent tariff rate for China and that have been in course of preparation for the past three months by the Tariff Reform Commission that has been meeting here, were approved yesterday at the Board's final session.

In accordance with the program to effect increases of China's tariff outlined at the Washington Conference another tariff commission is to sit, early next year at Peking, with the purpose of making the further tariff increase of two and a half percent.

Increased duties to be brought into effect shortly under the newly completed schedules will, according to estimates that have been given, increase the revenues of the central Government from ten to twelve millions annually. Another measureable increase will be brought about next year when the further two and a half percent is authorised and eventually when the final increase of five percent, to be made when likin is abolished, is added tariff revenues will be considerably more than double what they have been under the present schedules even if no increases in the country's foreign trade develop.

It is understood that the results of all of the labors of the tariff commission shortly will be made public and schedules decided upon will be given out in detail. Reports are that the new schedules will go into effect superceding those of the present on October 1, but concessions are to be made in the matter of goods en route and all goods shipped and on the way that arrive in China before December 1 will be permitted to come under the old schedules.

KOREAN SLAYER'S ESCAPE OF NOOSE JOLT TO TOKIO

Death Sentence Was Anticipated In View Of Confession

(China Press Service)

Tokio, Sept. 27.—Some surprise has been expressed here at the decision of the Japanese court at Nagasaki in sentencing one of the Koreans who killed Mrs. Grace Snyder in an attempt to assassinate Baron General Tanaka to a life sentence. It was expected he would be executed in view of his full confession.

The Korean sentenced to life imprisonment in Nagasaki was one of the two who attempted to assassinate Baron General Tanaka when he was passing through Shanghai. Foiled in their attempt they began shooting wildly on the Customs jetty and killed Mrs. Grace Snyder, the wife of an American of Brazil, Ind., and injured several local people including Mr. H. A. S. Thompson of Finance and Commerce.

One of the Koreans escaped from the Japanese jail here and has never been heard of since although a large reward for his capture was offered and Japanese Consular authorities expected him to be taken into custody again within a few days. The other prisoner, Kim, was taken to Nagasaki for trial after a preliminary hearing in the Japanese Consulate here.

Asks Equal Rights For Asia At League

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Sept. 28.—At the meeting of the First Commission today on juridical and constitutional questions, Arfaad Dowleh (Persia) urged that Asia should be accorded equitable representation on the Council of the League by two seats, one permanent and the other nonpermanent. The proposal was supported by the delegates from China and India. The Indian delegate declared that the impression should not be given to the world that the League was an organisation of European or Christian nations.

Newspapers Says Organised Opposition Still Exists

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Sept. 28.—The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, commenting on the news of the appointment of Dr. Paul Reinsch as Adviser to the Chinese Government, attacks Dr. Reinsch on the ground that he was the leader of the anti-German clique which induced China to declare war on Germany and declares that this clique still exists and the appointment is important to Germany owing to her economic interests in China.

Murder Cut Short Collins' Romance

Michael Collins and Miss Kittie Kiernan

WHILE he was "on the run" for six years as Commander-in-Chief of the Irish Army, with a huge price on his head, Michael Collins wooed and won the beautiful Miss Kittie Kiernan, of Granard, County Longford, who was irristibly attracted by the dashing young soldier. The romance was not disclosed until, in a personal and scathing attack upon Collins in Dail Eireann, Countess Markiewicz declared that, for having signed the peace treaty with England, Collins ought to marry Princess Mary.

In a beautiful answer, Collins declared the Countess was bringing pain to his fiancee—and the secret was out. The marriage was to have taken place as soon as Collins brought peace to "this most distressful land." But the wedding will never take place, for Collins is dead at the hands of assassins, and Miss Kiernan is left to mourn.

CONSTANTINE GIVES UP THRONE; KEMALISTS AND BRITISH MAKE FEINTS

Turkish Cavalry Advances To Cut Off English Advanced Post At Kepez; British Column Moves As Counter Threat

LONDON CABINET IN LONG DISCUSSION

Ministers Talk Of Possible Alternatives Arising From Kemal's Answer To Allied Note, Which Is Not Yet At Hand

(Reuter's Service)

Athens, Sept. 28.—King Constantine, in a message to the nation announcing his abdication, says that he is anxious to prevent the slightest suspicion that his remaining on the throne would prevent the sacred unity of the Greeks and assistance from their friends in the critical situation to which regrettable misfortunes have led the country.

He is confident that the nation will rally round his successor, Prince George, and says that Greece will again overcome her difficulties provided she faces the danger unitedly and is assisted by her powerful friends.

King Constantine concludes by saying that he is happy that another opportunity has come to sacrifice himself for Greece and offers to fight at the head of the army if the Government and people desire.

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—The British forces already in the Near East include over 30,000 troops, six dreadnoughts, seven battleships, 20 destroyers and several submarines and giant aeroplane carriers.

Paris, Sept. 28.—A semi-official announcement states that the Greek revolution will not change the Allied policy with regard to Turkey but warns the latter not to prejudice the position by military measures on the European shore of the Straits, thereby possibly committing a tactical error which would strongly affect the present negotiations.

Washington, Sept. 28.—In response to a request from Admiral Bristol twelve destroyers have been ordered from Norfolk to Constantinople with provisions for relief and for the protection of American interests.

London, Sept. 28.—In view of the gravity of the Near East situation the Cabinet yesterday evening discussed for two hours possible alternatives arising from Kemal Pasha's answer, which had not then been received. It was subsequently stated that the delay did not tend to improve matters. The Government was anxious to get Kemal Pasha to extend the time limit to September 30 for the removal of 200,000 Greeks and Armenians from Smyrna who were in a sad plight. Britain had chartered fifteen ships for this purpose and the American Near East Relief Committee was similarly taking an important part.

Constantinople, Sept. 28.—The Turkish cavalry from Bremkeuy has been reinforced and is advancing to the northeast upon Asmalitepe apparently in order to cut off the British advanced post at Kepez. A British column with artillery has left Chanak as a counter threat.

Sir Charles Harington in a conciliatory reply to Kemal Pasha thanks him for his declaration in respect of the neutrality of the Straits and for his desire to avoid incidents. He points out that the destruction of buildings and roads were carried out as a military necessity and assures the Turkish leader that no shot will be fired except by 'nis, Sir Charles Harington's, orders. The British High Commissioner expresses his readiness to meet Kemal Pasha anywhere convenient to discuss an understanding.

Athens, Sept. 28.—The Salonika garrison has joined the revolution, which is supported by both Venizelist and Royalist officers. Prince Paul is reported to be a prisoner on board the training-ship, Elli. Up to the present there has been no bloodshed. Athens is calm.

Constantinople, Sept. 27.—General Sir Charles Harington has received a reply from Mustapha Kemal concurring with the Allies' desire to avoid incidents but evading the question of withdrawal and disclaiming knowledge of any neutral zone, while complaining that the British have destroyed buildings and roads.

London, Sept. 27.—Ten units of the Atlantic Fleet have arrived at Constantinople to strengthen the British forces.

London, Sept. 27.—The revolution in Greece is confirmed in official quarters in London.

It is learned from an authoritative source that King Constantine has abdicated.

The revolution seems to have broken out in Chios and Mitylene where there are large numbers of soldiers and refugees. The political significance of the rising is at present obscure.

It seems clear that another revolution has commenced at

Southern Women To Give Tea Dance To Aid Building Fund

The Southern women's section of the American Woman's Club announces a tea dance, with cabaret features, on October 3, at the Carlton. Prof. Aronson, the well known jazz king of the Far East and way stations, has assured the promoters of this affair that he will have special music for the occasion. Just what the cabaret features are has not been disclosed, but leave it to those Southern missies. Tickets will be on sale at the door.

THREE DROWNED AS STEAMER HITS JUNK IN RIVER

Kashing Collides With Rice Boat; Four Are Rescued

A Chinese woman and her two children were drowned yesterday morning in the Whangpoo when the Butterfield and Swire steamer Kashing collided with and overturned a junk opposite the P. and O. jetty.

The crew of the Kashing and of a passing Chinese ferry boat succeeded in rescuing four men and a girl who were also thrown into the water when the junk overturned. The river police were early on the scene and recovered the bodies of the two children.

The Kashing was coming up stream shifting from one dock to another when the collision occurred. The junk with its occupants and the cargo of 160 piculs of rice was overturned, River Police later towing it to the Pootung shore where it was righted. The River patrol is dragging the Wangpoo for the rice.

The three drowned persons disappeared almost immediately. One man saved his life when he grabbed one of the life buoys thrown from the Kashing while the Pootung ferry picked up three men and a girl.

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN

(Reuter's Service)

Copenhagen, Sept. 27.—It is announced that the engagement of the Crown Prince Frederick and Princess Olga of Greece. King Constantine's niece, has been broken off by mutual consent.

Salonika where it has adopted a somewhat different form, there being much talk of fighting for the retention of Thrace.

Some refugees from Chios and Mitylene are reported to be voyaging to the mainland.

Athens, Sept. 27.—General Koutzis has induced the garrison of Salonika to support the manifesto of the troops at Mitylene. General Platsaras is controlling the movement at Chios.

The fleet appears to be taking sides against the Government, the battleships, Kilkis and Lemnos, with nine torpedo-boats and seaplanes, having joined the revolutionaries at Mitylene.

It is reported that a body of revolutionary troops have landed at Cape Sunion. General Papoulas has been sent to try to induce them not to advance.

There is great excitement at Athens and the most sensational rumors are current in the city. It is announced that troops have disembarked at various points in Attica.

Athens, Sept. 27.—The British and French representatives here have made representations to the Greek Government on the presence of Greek warships in Turkish waters, which impairs the prospects of peace.

It is announced that the Greek cruiser, Averoff, will be recalled but two torpedo-boats will remain at Constantinople provisionally for the purpose of protecting Greek Nationals.

(China Press Service)

Paris Sept. 23.—The Chicago Tribune (Paris edition) learns that the Greek Cabinet has decided to ask Venizelos to forget the past, return to Athens, and assist in rebuilding Greece.

The situation in Athens has become most critical since the loss of Thrace must be considered as an unveiling of the attitude of the Powers, and the hundred thousand Greeks who have returned to Greece from abroad since the war have swollen the number of unemployed to an unprecedented figure.

Berlin, Sept. 28.—Jugo-Slavia is greatly disappointed concerning the decision of the great Powers to return Thrace and Adrianople to Turkey.

Soviet Impudent In Note To Britain

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 27.—A Soviet Note has been received by the Foreign Office asking that Russia, Georgia and the Ukraine shall participate in the Near East Conference.

It says that none of the Western Powers is taking steps to prevent war and that the key to the Near East question is the effective restoration of Turkish sovereignty and Turkish lands, especially the Straits and Constantinople.

The note alleges that the Western Powers, of whom Britain is the most obstinate, are refusing to restore to the Turks their territory and the Straits ostensibly for the sake of the preservation of the Straits but really because they wish to keep the Straits in their own control.

Russia will recognise no decision with regard to the Straits in which she has no part and which ignores her interests.

Jurisdiction Issue Is Raised Again In The Mixed Court

Claims of American citizenship brought up in a case at the Mixed Court yesterday at a late stage in the proceedings of a case were disallowed by Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan.

The claim was made by Mr. L. K. Kentwell on behalf of a Chinese against whom a judgment for Tls. 500 was given last month. The judgment was for rent due and defendant was ordered to make monthly payments of Tls. 100. No claim of American citizenship had been made previously, but Mr. Kentwell stated yesterday that this client had been born in Honolulu and was therefore under American jurisdiction. Mr. Snyder opposed Mr. Kentwell's contention and the Court announced that it would not relinquish jurisdiction since the case had arrived at such a late stage and since no documentary evidence was submitted.

Mr. Snyder applied for an order that the defendant's shop be sealed up unless he made up arrears in payment but on the defendant's declaration that he was doing his utmost to make up the payments the motion was adjourned for one month.

Paid Jilted Fiance's Courtship Bills

MISS Sheila Terry, an actress, has paid a "courtship bill," presented by Benny Rubin, whom she rejected, which covered candy, flowers, etc. She says it is only fair that when a man has courted a girl and taken her to suppers, theaters and done many little things for her, and then the girl marries someone else, the girl should pay him back what he spent—if he sends in a bill and wants the cash.

British Women's Association Notes

The following have become members of the Association since our last announcement: Miss N. L. Barham, Miss Diane de Brett, Mrs. T. Ward Hall, Mrs. H. Langley, Mrs. L. W. C. Lorden, Mrs. F. Large Miss Margaret Milne, Mrs. Ranald G. McDonald, Mrs. R. H. Peyton-Griffin, Miss G. R. Pickering, Miss A. B. Ratcliff, Mrs. W. C. Taylor and Miss Whimster.

Attention is called to the fact that a very large number of annual subscriptions to the Association still remain unpaid. Members who have not remitted will be communicated with shortly but meanwhile it should be noted that the actual subscription is $3.00 a year and that the voluntary subscription for the upkeep of headquarters is left to the discretion of the individual. The running expenses of the B. W. A. are cut down to a minimum but it cannot be too widely known that the organisation depends entirely upon members' subscriptions and that it is not in any way subsidised.

GARDENING SECTION

This Section has been most commendably prompt in issuing its Autumn program and opens on October 6 with a practical demonstration at Jessfield Park on sweet peas. On October 16 the Section will be "at home" to all B. W. A. members at 20 Gordon Road (by kind permission of Mrs. Ayscough), when a private dahlia show will be held. Judging will take place at 2 p.m. and members of the Section have already been notified of details in regard to arrangements. Prizes will be given for the best single bloom, the best collection of six single blooms and the best collection of not fewer than twenty-four blooms arranged in a vase or basket. A special prize has been offered by the chairman of the Section, Mrs. R. S. Ivy, for the prettiest arrangement of dahlias either in basket or bowl. The flowers for this competition may be purchased or procured from any garden, thus offering an opportunity for all members of the Section to enter for it. Tea will be served from 4 to 6 p.m.

SPORTS SECTION

The final stage of the B. W. A. tennis tournament will, if weather permits, be reached on Saturday next when the mixed doubles will be played off. Mrs. P. W. Wilkie and Mrs. E. P. Graham-Barrow won the first and second prizes for singles and Mrs. C. D. Pearson and Miss Pringle the ladies' doubles. Entries for the mixed doubles should reach the honorary secretary, Miss Adlam, 504 Avenue Foch, without delay. B. W. A. members and their friends will be cordially welcomed to tea and to watch the tennis on Saturday next at 501 Avenue Haig.

Quite a number of members have met for practice recently at the Revolver Club—No. 2. Route de Say Zoong, at the corner of Avenue Haig—and a team of British women is now being organised to take part in next month's competitions. Further particulars as to this may be obtained from Miss Adlam and any one desiring to shoot should send her name in. Quite remarkable marksmanship was shown a few days ago by a couple of newcomers, one of whom it was said had never held a revolver in her hand before, which may be taken as a suggestion that "nobody knows what they can do until they try." The Section is very anxious to promote a strong team and it is hoped that members will come forward.

LIBRARY SECTION

While the full Autumn program of this Section has not reached us, it may be noted that the first meeting will be held on October 10, when the chairman, Mrs. Hodges, M. A., will read a paper on "Two Poets, John Donne and Rupert Brooke." On October 24 Miss Venn-Brown, whose experiences in France ranged over practically the duration of the war, will speak on "Work done by some of the War Organisations behind the lines in France."

MUSICAL SECTION

A meeting of the committee of the Musical Section has been called for October 2 and their first program will probably be given on Thursday, October 19.

DRAMATIC SECTION

The Dramatic Section, with Mrs. H. York Irwine as its newly elected chairman, may be congratulated on carrying into effect one of the underlying principles of the Association's foundation, that of co-operating with existing philanthropic enterprises. Under its auspices an entertainment will be given for the Union Church Ladies' Society on October 18 while on October 14 a pastoral play has been arranged for the benefit of the King's Daughters' Convalescent Home to take place at the Fair and Fete in Mrs. Ayscough's garden.

ART SECTION

The first meeting of the Art Section will take place on October 12 in connection with which particulars will be forthcoming shortly.

APPEALS FROM OUTPORTS

Members and others from Swatow and Taichow-fu have during the Summer and quite recently made most urgent appeal for co-operation on the part of the B. W. A. in relation to raising funds in connection with the dire distress that has overtaken both places as a result of flood and typhoon. In regard to Swatow both clothes and money have been received by the B. W. A., the latter being greatly augmented through the generosity of Mr. Richard Bell, from whom the Secretaries have received $550, the outcome of a variety entertainment given last week at the Olympic Theater.

The subject of the distress at Taichow-fu was dealt with by the chairman of the B. W. A. in a recent letter to the press and members are reminded that subscriptions, no matter how small, are most earnestly asked for. The Social Service Board has opened a subscription list with a donation from its funds of $250 and all amounts may be sent to Mrs. J. Douglas, Hon Treas. S. S. Bd. c-o Headquarters.

HAMMOND LOSES CASE AND WINS IN MIXED COURT

Clears His Chauffeur On One Charge But Is Assessed Fine On Another

Mr. J. T. Hammond, starring as witness for the defense in two cases of alleged traffic law violation in the Mixed Court in which his Chinese chauffeur appeared as defendant, succeeded yesterday in winning one case and in losing the other.

The first hearing was upon an application Mr. Hammond made asking that a fine of $20 that had been imposed be remitted and in this Assessor King and Magistrate Loh upheld the contentions of Superintendent of Police Vaughan who conducted the prosecution and the penalty was confirmed. In the second case the charge was dismissed as the court held the evidence presented was contradictor.

Mr. Hammond's chauffeur was fined $20 for failing to obey traffic signals on Avenue Haig and Mr. Hammond asked for a rehearing. At the rehearing yesterday morning Mr. Hammond, his chauffeur and the police gave their evidence after which the Court held that the new evidence merely brought out two facts that the car was not under control at the time as the chauffeur testified that something had gone wrong with the engine just at that moment, and that Mr. Hammond had not seen the signal against him, which in the Court's opinion made the case against the chauffeur even stronger. The application for dismissal was therefore refused.

In the second case Mr. Hammond's chauffeur was charged with failing to obey traffic signals at Seymour and Bubbling Well Roads on September 6. A Chinese and a Sikh policeman testified that Mr. Hammond's car failed to stop on signal to do so and that when it did stop Mr. Hammond charged the Chinese policeman was 'asleep' and called the Sikh a 'dam fool.'

Mr. Hammond testified that the signal was changed, when the car was just even with the sign and the chauffeur stopped as soon as he possibly could and asserted that the policemen, for some mysterious reason, had gone out of their way to report him when the incident should never have been reported as it was the fault of the police rather than his driver. The Court held that testimony given was so contradictory that it was impossible to arrive at the true facts. Mr. Hammond was given the benefit of the doubt and the charges dismissed.

Nations Competing For Aero Routes To Russia

(Chung Mei Service)

Rome, June.—Italy, Germany, France and England have entered into a keen competition for precedence in the opening of aerial route and communications with Russia.

Without awaiting the re-establishment of diplomatic relations and although pledged not to enter into separate agreements with the Soviets, they have already mapped out and secured permission for the establishment of at least half a dozen great international aerial lines that will link up the principal Russian centers with all the big western European capitals.

Although these aerial lines are being established ostensibly for commercial purposes, no secret is made of the fact that the real motive back of their construction is that of securing political prestige and advantages in Russia.

To date, Italy and Germany by reason of the fact that they have commercial agreements with the Soviets which permit of direct relations and open negotiations are admittedly in on the ground floor. Both England and France however are litfle behind them in developing their own basis of aerial communications with Russia.

The lines which Italy will lay will be in full conformity with her avowed policy of commercial penetration in southern Russia. Negotiations are now under way both between the Italian and Soviet governments and Italian airplane firms for the opening of a Rome-Odessa-Bakou route. Two lines will be established, one a purely overland route as indicated above and the other a combined land and sea route with hydroplanes via -Brindisi, Athens and Constantinople and then on to Odessa and Bakou.

The Soviets themselves have taken a deep interest in this hydroavion route and will develop their own internal service in connection with it. To this end they have just purchased the patents from an Italian firm for its new type of hydroavion and given the company also the contract for the installation of a manufacturing plant and hydroavion base at Odessa. This will connect up with the Italian aerial line.

With their own hydroavion service operating out of Odessa the Soviets plan to establish lines running up all of the great waterways that enter in the Black Sea from Central Russia.

After Italy, Germany is next making the most progress in getting in on the ground floor of Russia by the aerial route. In fact she already has her initial line between Berlin and Moscow in full operation. In addition the Germans have a commission of their leading aerial technicians now at Moscow working out with the Soviets plans for the establishing of airplane plants in Russia, and the opening of new lines connecting up the important Russian and German centers.

Although France, by her unsympathetic attitude towards the Soviet regime, is for the moment barred from dealing directly with Moscow for aerial concessions, she is, nevertheless, not very far behind her allied and ex-enemy competitors. She is working in connection with Poland and Roumania, her two strong political supporters in Central Europe by means of the Franco-Roumanian Company. France hopes to have in operation this year a line between Bucharest and the Caucasia that will link up with her Paris-Bucharest line.

By means of Polish-French companies her plans also include a Warsaw-Moscow line that in turn will connect up with the Paris-Warsaw service.

Finally, England herself is not staying out of the game. Just as Italy is sticking to the Southern Russian region in connection with her own general Russian commercial policy, England is working out aerial concessions for northern Russia that will fit in nicely with her policy of northern Russian penetration and expansion. But England wants also aerial concessions that will permit her to have a certain surveillance of the Russian oil regions. In this respect she will have a certain competition with France which plans that her Bucharest-Caucasia line will also have a look in on the Russia oil and mine regions.

Russia May Ignore Copyright Laws

(Reuter's Service)

Moscow, August 14.—International copyright laws, excepting only with countries with which the Moscow Government has treaties, will be ignored in Russia if recommendations of the Soviet state publishing department are adopted by the Commissariat of Justice.

The publishing department, which has been considering the question many months, takes the view that all books once within Russia are state property, and that the state has the free right for the use of publications as it sees fit.

Independence Of Pius Jars Vatican

(Chung Mei Service)

Rome, Sept. 1.—The independence and initiative of Pius XI. have furnished plenty of jolts to the nerves of the staid members of the Vatican. When he announced that a woman was coming to live in the Vatican the skies almost fell. The highest authorities protested almost tearfully: "But, your Holiness, this is against all traditions." Whereupon Pope Pius answered: "Then we will begin a new tradition."

So the first woman in centuries is now installed permanently in the Vatican. She is Signora Linda, a woman of 60, who for forty years has been a servant in the household of the Pope's mother and was his governess. When the then Cardinal Ratti's mother died Signora Linda became homeless and went to a convent in Milan.

Now Signora Linda has an apartment near that of the Pope in the Vatican and is practically its housekeeper, supervising the papal wardrobe and those of his secretaries, ordering the meals and making trips to the kitchen to see that everything is prepared in accordance with the Pope's simple tastes. She dresses like a nun and is a plain but intelligent woman who reads newspapers and prays much.

She already has cut down the household expenses greatly from the generous budget maintained by the late Pope Benedict.

JUDICIAL REFORM BEING DISCUSSED BY MEETING HERE

Local Lawyers Bring Up Question Of Restoring Mixed Court

Fundamental reforms in law administration in China, including steps toward the abolition of extraterritorial rights, are to form part of the subject matter to be discussed by the National Judiciary Conference, now in session here, while strong efforts are being made by local Chinese lawyers to have the conference take a strong stand for the restoration of the International Mixed Court.

The delegates, numbering more than fifty and representing 11 provinces and 12 different organisations, are meeting at the building of the Kiangsu Educational Association. The session yesterday was devoted to classification of the 72 items in the agenda and today's session will be similarly occupied. At the opening session Wednesday the constitution of the Association was read and adopted, following which a number of congratulatory speeches were made by delegates.

The principal address was delivered by Mr. George Hsu Chien, who suggested that the powers of constitution-making be exercised by the people. Party interests are so strong in the National Assembly, he said, that it is useless to hope that it will draft a constitution that will be acceptable to the people. He advocated choosing delegates whose only duty would be to draft the constitution. Mr. Chang I-peng, a Shanghai lawyer, presided at the first meeting.

The Shanghai Chinese Bar Association at a meeting has drawn up a resolution calling upon the conference to discuss the unconditional restoration to Chinese control of the International Mixed Court. The resolution declares that since the revolution of 1911 the Mixed Court has been administered by the Consular Body and that this body is not authorised to such power by treaty.

Another issue raised is that of the establishment here of an appeal court. Members of the Bar Association oppose the appointment of the Taoyin, the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs or other local official as magistrate of such a court, contending that the only persons competent to occupy such a post are the judges of the Kiangsu High Court at Soochow. The solution of the matter, it is declared, would be the establishment here of a branch of the High Court of Appeal by the Soochow tribunal, which it is suggested be located in the Mixed Court.

Fall In Rubber Stocks Aids Prices

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 27.—The recovery of the price of rubber to 8d a pound yesterday is attributed to the fall in London stocks to 71,167 tons, fresh discussion of restriction schemes, increased demand from America and renewal of the Russian demand.

The Rubber Shareholders Association publish a message from their agent visiting Penang contending that much waste existed on the majority of estates. He suggested that better results would follow if the properties were managed on one system and the purchase of material and recruitment of labor were established on co-operative lines.

U. S. Sends Protest To Cuba On Alien Smuggling Activity

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, August 24.—Formal announcement finally was made at the State Department today that representations regarding the smuggling of aliens into the United States from Cuba had been cabled to the Cuban Government.

Acting Secretary Phillips, in making the announcement, declined to go into details regarding the negotiations which are understood to have been in progress for some time. It was indicated, however, that the representations all had followed the line of the recommendations made by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department, suggesting that immigration barriers be erected to prevent Cuba from being used as a base of operation for alien smugglers.

In a letter sent to the State Department three weeks ago, the Labor Secretary complained particularly about the smuggling of Chinese who were said to have been brought to Cuba in large numbers for the sole purpose of being transferred illicitly to American shores. Mr. Davis' views are understood to have been passed on to Havana soon after his letter reached State Department officials.

German Finds Way To Color Live Trees

(Reuter's Service)

Dresden, August 25.—A German engineer named Reimann has just succeeded in perfecting a process for coloring living trees. It has been found that a whole tree from the end of its roots to the topmost leaf can be completely and permanently colored within forty-eight hours.

Anilin dye is used, and fifty grams of it together with 200 litres of water are sufficient for the tree. The final tests were made in the nearby forest of Tharandt in the presence of a representative of the Saxon Government and a number of experts including professors from the Tharandt Forestry School.

Two Dresden firms have undertaken to exploit the patent. Furniture, cigarette cases, penholders, and other articles are to be put on the market all made up in the new colored wood. Imitations of certain natural woods are declared possible through the process.

American and Dutch concerns are reported to be showing especial interest in finding markets for the novelties.

Filipinos, Dippy Over Villa's Victory, Talking Of Baseball Invasion

On numerous occasions we have contended that some effort should be made to send such ballplayers as Birtulfo, Cruz, Platon, Belmonte, Liboon, Garcia, Ylanan and others to the States to play professional baseball, says "Sports," a Manila weekly devoted to athletics.

Now that Villa has won the highest honors that America has to bestow on a boxer of his weight it is not unreasonable to assume that our baseball players would also succeed in their chosen branch of sport as Villa has succeeded in his.

In Organised Baseball in the States and Canada are perhaps fifty or more Cubans performing in the various classes of leagues including the Majors. And what is more it is fifteen years or more since the Cubans have invaded the Major League ranks.

From the time we first saw Birtulfo performing as a pitcher we have maintained that he was wasting his time playing baseball in this part of the world where he is not receiving a cent for his great talent.

Having had the opportunity of witnessing Major League baseball for almost twenty years, during which we saw such great stars as Bender, Plank, Matthewson, Jess Walsh, Waddell, Marquardt, Ruelbach, Young, Alexander, Summers, Falkenberg, Hughes, Brown, Overall and a host of other stars perform, should at least give us some slight idea of what they really were, and we maintain that Birtulfo only lacks the opportunity of proving that he is the equal of the best of those now earning thousands of dollars a season.

Boxing here is professionalised while baseball is not. From the time a young boxer begins to exhibit some cleverness he begins earning some little money, and these earnings increase as he develops. On the other hand, a ballplayer here, no matter how good, has no opportunity of turning his ability into profit.

On his earnings a Filipino boxer is enabled to go elsewhere, while the star ballplayers lack the means to pay their expenses to the States where opportunity beckons.

The enthusiasm developed over Villa's victory leads us to believe that there are Filipinos of means who would only too willingly subscribe to a fund that might be loaned to our star baseball players and which will enable them to go to the States for a trial in Organised Babeball.

We are too far from the baseball world to expect that Major League scouts seeking talent will invade our shores. The time and expense of such a trip would be great. But we should send a few of our best men over there. There is no question of them making good as there are no less than six different classifications in Organised Baseball. Birtulfo is a superstar who would have no difficulty in making good in the best company, while the lesser talent would find places in leagues of lower classification.

As many Filipinos are well aware baseball and not boxing is America's national game. For every dollar invested in the promotion of boxing there are thousands invested in baseball.

A champion boxer is a much lesser hero in the States than a star pitcher, or a home-run hitter like Babe Ruth and several others. And if it is considered that the Philippines will benefit because of Villa's championship what would happen if Birtulfo became the hero of a World's Baseball Series?

By all means let's raise a fund of a few thousands pesos to send a few of our star ballplayers where they will be given the opportunity of making the Filipino famous on the diamond as he is now becoming in the ring.

Five thousand pesos will prove quite sufficient to send a half-dozen or more of our stars where both fame and fortune awaits them, and "Sports" will open up the campaign with the opening of the baseball season by contributing the first hundred pesos.

Fight Film Fails To Disclose Foul

(Reuter's Service)

London, Sept. 27.—The Carpentier-Siki film which should have been shown in London yesterday did not arrive.

It was subsequently explained that its exhibition was postponed because Carpentier had lodged an appeal against the decision, contending that a foul was shown by slowing down the film.

The film was later smuggled into London by aeroplane and exhibited to experts, including Kid Lewis and Mr. Eugene Corri.

The latter expressed the opinion that Siki's alleged trip was not a foul. Kid Lewis stated that he had challenged Siki.

22 Warships Here Soon, Post Season Baseball Probable

American sports are expected to take a post-season boom next week when 22 ships of the United States Asiatic Fleet are expected in port with several baseball grudges and a desire to play American football. Rivalry between the Huron and the Black Hawk is expected to result in a baseball series here while American civilians will probably have a football team to play against the Navy. Maj Maloney is attempting to work this up and asks any who crave football action to let him know.

The fleet is scheduled to leave Chefoo on Saturday or Sunday after a long stay up North where Summer maneuvers and target practice have been features of the Summer program.

A new destroyer division and several ships recently arrived from America make up part of the fleet coming.

Obituary

SIR CHARLES WADE

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Sept. 27.—The death is announced of Sir Charles Wade, Justice of the Supreme Court at Sydney.

JOHN MORESBY

(China Press Service)

London, Sept. 2.—The death occurred in a nursing home at Gosport yesterday of Admiral John Moresby at the age of 92. A great seaman and explorer, Admiral Moresby's name is associated with most important discoveries in New Guinea, and he found the finest harbor in the island, the site of the present town of Port Moresby.

The admiral went to sea, as he was fond of relating, as a "first-class volunteer" when he was only 12. He was on active service in the Baltic in 1854-55, began his great exploration of the New Guinea coast in 1873, and annexed British New Guinea for the Empire.

In the course of his explorations he discovered 25 large inhabited islands, and more than 100 smaller islands, and charted more than 600 miles of previously unknown coastline.

Telling the story of his discoveries to a reporter a little more than a year ago, Admiral Moresby said that after he returned to his station from his tour of exploration, in which he had made such important discoveries, he was reported for disobedience of orders.

He was the only sailor who has ever had a ship named after him in his lifetime. The destroyer Moresby fought at the Battle of Jutland and torpedoed and sank a German battleship. The crew afterwards presented the admiral with the tattered remains of the destroyer's battle ensign.

Chinese Laborers May Be Turned Back

(Reuter's Service)

Panama, August 22.—The steamship Bermuda, passing through the Panama Canal yesterday, bound for Jamaica, had on board 385 Chinese laborers, said to be under contract to do farm work there.

The British Vice-Consul, Mr. Humber, says there is no labor shortage in Jamaica, and the Chinese may not be permitted to land under the provisions of the immigration restriction law.

Navy 'Y' Taking Sailors On Tour Of Chinese City

The Navy "Y" will conduct a sightseeing trip through the Chinese City with American and British sailors tomorrow afternoon. The trip will be an interesting one. The party will visit the ivory, jade and cloisonne shops, the famous willow pattern tea house, old and new temples and the Mandarin gardens. In the gardens group photographs will be taken of the sightseeing party with picturesque Chinese surroundings. All sailors in port and civilian men and women are cordially invited to join the party. Starting from the Navy "Y" building at 3 o'clock sharp the sightseers will return at 5 o'clock.

Chinese Pickpockets Get Jail Sentences

Three Chinese charged with thefts from the person of other Chinese were given jail sentences of from 6 months to 1½ years by American Assessor King and Magistrate Loh yesterday.

A brassmith charged with larceny and also returning to the Settlement after being expelled was given the 1½ year sentence, and a coolie who picked a man's pocket of $14 after returning from expulsion was given 9 months. A barber who 'lifted' a pocketbook from a Chinese on a tram was given 6 months jail.

GUARD BABY'S HEALTH IN THE HEAT

The hot months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of this season, which are cholera, infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to cure them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as is Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy. They regulate the stomach and bowels, cure indigestion, and constipation, relieve colic, check diarrhoea, allay teething pains, dispel colds and croup, banish worms, and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 60 cents the vial from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

TIENTSIN TENNIS

O. D. Rasmussen and C. W. L. Way won the Men's Doubles Competition in the Tientsin L. T. C. Autumn tournament for the third time on Saturday, when they defeated A. J. Miller and F. S. Turner, 5-7, 6-3, 6-0. The latter pair received 36, and the winners owed 30.

The first set was a ding-dong affair, and was won by Miller and Turner practically by the handicap on their service. All played a very steady game.

The match continued to be fairly close until half-way in the second set, when Rasmussen and Way ran away with that set and the third set.

Rasmussen played on top of his form, smashing brilliantly and delivering a practically unplayable service. His partner rendered him excellent support. As they improved their opponents fell off, and the latter failed to get a single game in the third set.

There were some good rallies all through, and the large number of spectators were treated to a fine exhibition of tennis.

You will find Aerated Waters bottled in Syphons very economical. Frequently you want just one glass, but have to open a bottle for it. The rest is liable to become stale, or to lose its effervescence. With Syphons it is different. You just press the lever and draw off what you require. The rest, in the hermetically closed bottle, remains fresh and effervescent to the last drop. No looking for openers.

Steamer Released Under Heavy Bond

(China Press Service)

Manila, Sept. 27.—Attachment on the Japanese steamer Ryokai Maru has been dissolved by Judge Imperial of the court of first instance upon the filing of a certificate of deposit of P.200,000 by the Yokohama Specie bank agency with the clerk of court. The sheriff who for two weeks had custody of the boat immediately turned it over to the Japanese officers and crew.

The Japanese officers, Mitsui Bussan Kaisha and the owner of the Ryokai Maru have been sued by the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific company for P.200,000 and upon the refusal of the defendants to pay the above amount as compensation for the salvaging of the vessel attachment proceedings were started. The Ryokai Maru was stranded on the reefs near Mindoro last month.

According to Attorney Welch, counsel for the defendants, the Japanese officers expect to take the boat to Hongkong shortly. They believe that the boat can stand the strain of the voyage. It is estimated that more than P.100,000 is needed to repair the vessel.

AMERICAN JURY MUST FIX STATUS OF SEMENOFF

Question Is Whether He Succeeded Admiral Kolchak

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Sept. 25.—Supreme Court Justice Finch ruled yesterday that the question whether Ataman Gregorie Semenoff, Cossack leader, recently arrested here in connection with a judgment recovered against him in China, was merely ruler of a local territory or successor to Admiral Kolchak in the Omsk All-Russian Government, must be answered by a jury.

His decision was handed down with reference to another judgment obtained by default against the Omsk All-Russian Government was contained in the person of Semenov after the death of Admiral Kolchak. Attorneys for Semenoff, however, moved to vacate an order for examination in supplementary proceedings on the ground that the Omsk All-Russian Government ceased to exist after the execution of Admiral Kolchak.

Regarding the defendants' contention that the Omsk All-Russian Government was a de facto sovereignty against which a suit could not be brought here, Justice Finch pointed out that the courts have ruled that in default of official recognition of a foreign Government the court may hold it to be a foreign corporation. He refused to vacate the order or the subpoenas.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

September 28, 1922

Spot bar silver was down 1-16d and forward unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 69⅛ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 440¼.

The only change in our official quotations here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 995.

Our market today was on the firm side, particularly in the early part of the morning when business in Sterling was done at 3-5 15-16 for December delivery and in Gold Dollars at 77 1-16.

There were, however, at all times good buyers at these rates.

Later on in the day rates eased -off -slightly and in the afternoon the best sellers were offering -Sterling at 3s. 5¾d. for September-October delivery and 3s. 5⅞d. for forward. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 76¾ September-October and 76⅞ for forward delivery. There were buyers of Sterling at ⅛d. and Gold Dollars ⅛ point above these rates. There were buyers of Yen at 62⅝ for near delivery and sellers at the same rate for forward.

Some business in Francs T.T. was done at 1015 and in Franc bills at 1035.

Banks were quoting 3-6½ Sterling bills and 78¼ for Gold Dollars bills.

There was practically nothing doing in either the London or New York silver market yesterday, both of which were reported as steady.

Exchange Market

In their weekly report on the Shanghai exchange market, Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows:

Exchange:—Since the date of our last circular the price of Bar Silver in London has declined ⅛th to 35⅝ and 35¼ pence per ounce for spot and forward respectively. London reports the silver market as being steady and quiet, with China a small seller and India an equally small buyer. The official local rate for T.T. on London has declined ¼d. to 3s. 5d. at which level it remains at the close of business today, but 3s. 5⅝d. near and 3s. 5⅞d. forward is easily procurable. On the whole exchange has ruled steady throughout the week, forward rates for T.T. being especially favorable and advantage has been taken of 3s. 5⅝d. and 76½ for delivery during 1923. Export paper in unimportant amounts has been placed on the basis of 4 m-s. credits as low as, 3s. 6¼d., 78¼ and 1035-40.

The lethargic state of trade of the past few weeks still continues, resulting in an unusually sluggish exchange market, little movement either way.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 40,040,000, a decrease of Tls. 993,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $36,430,000, a decrease of $360,000.

Estimated value Tls. 66,269,000 as against Tls. 41,570,000 held at this time last year.

Singapore Rubber Auction

Singapore, September 13, 1922

During the past week a gradual improvement has taken place in London, chiefly due to the R. G. A's. recommendation to the British Government that Stevenson's Scheme be adopted with voluntary support from the Dutch Indies. Spot in London was this morning reported up to 7½d. and New York up to 14½ cents. The local market has advanced in sympathy, although not to the same extent as London.

The weekly auction held today was well attended throughout the sale, and all prices have advanced considerably on the week. Bidding was fair and at times quite lively. Of the 857 tons catalogued, 632 tons were offered and 462 tons sold.

Only one lot of Awarded Singapore Standard Sheet was sold, the price being 25¼ cents. All other lots were withdrawn, owing to buyers bidding 25 cents only. Sheet equal to Standard found ready buyers, and shows an advance in price of 2 cents on the week. Off Quality parcels were also easy of sale. No sales of Awarded Standard 1st Latex Crepe took place, all lots being withdrawn owing to buyers' low limits. Crepe equal to Standard sold to an interested market at prices 2 to 2¼ cents up. Off Color Latex and Mottled Crepes sold freely. Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were in good favor, fetching very fair prices, which on an average improved 1½ to 2 cents.

Humans Second Choice To Skeeters, They Prefer Rabbits

According to Dr. W. Rudolfs, biochemist in entomology and mosquito expert for the New Jersey agricultural experiment stations, mosquitoes don't really care for human blood and would rather feast on animals. Dr. Rudolfs said:

"It is the blood hunger of the mosquito that induces them to follow us and bite. Roubaud found the number of mosquitoes to that part of the house occupied by human beings insignificant compared with the enormous numbers caught in the part occupied by animals. The average number of females that had drawn blood from man was 14.2 percent, while frequently 90 percent of them had drawn blood from animals.

"Legendre observed that cattle attracted more mosquitoes than horses, and that while rabbit cages were full of gorged mosquitoes, similarly-constructed cages housing ducks and chickens were free from mosquitoes, as was a dwelling house a short distance away."

So, according to the doctor, so long as there are short-haired animals around, the chances of your escape from having the irritating proboscides thrust through your skin are favorable.

Dr. Rudolfs also says mosquitoes are attracted by dark colors, especially by black and pay no attention to the form or shape of anything. He also declares the pests do not feed when the humidity is less than 40 percent and enjoy their meals the most when it is 50 percent or more.

The American Reply To The Balfour Note

SECRETARY Mellon in his recent statement makes what may be considered an answer to the Balfour reparations note which does not require a formal reply, since it was addressed to England's European debtors, and touched the United States only by a side wind. The gist of the Balfour note was that the insistence of the United States on payment made it impossible for the British government to follow the policy which it would prefer and leave its rights as a creditor wholly in abeyance. The gist of the reply by Secretary Mellon is that there is no connection whatever between Great Britain's debt to the United States and debts owed to Great Britain by the allies; the indebtedness, now totaling $4,135,000,000, of Great Britain to the United States is entirely a British-American transaction.

In a sense it is difficult to assert that these various transactions are wholly unconnected; it is within the power and right of the British government, if it so chooses, to establish a connection between debts owing to it and debts which it owes, so far as the terms of payment or release from payment are concerned. But Secretary Mellon has in mind not the conditions of repayment but the conditions under which the war debts were contracted, and in particular he contravenes the statement in the Balfour note that "the United States insisted, in substance if not in form, that though the allies were to spend the money it was only on our security that they were prepared to lend it."

The accuracy of this statement, indeed, had already been challenged by British authorities. The general rule in 1917-18 was that when American goods were supplied to France and Italy they were added to the debt of those powers, while goods supplied to Great Britain were added to the British debt; in this way France received credits of $3,000,000,000, against $4,000,000,000 for Great Britain.

The basis for the British claims that a great part of the indebtedness of Great Britain was incurred in behalf of the allies is to be found largely in the fact that the debt includes money used for the support of sterling exchange, made necessary by general allied purchases in the neutral markets of South America and elsewhere, but one British writer estimates that three-fourths of the British debt was for goods supplied to British munitions factories and for food and other goods consumed by the British military and civilian population. It is true, however, that Great Britain was at the same time lending the allies an equivalent sum in British coal, munitions and the use of British ships; the same British authority says: "If America had been willing to lend dollars to France and Italy to pay for these goods, in addition to the dollars spent on French and Italian purchases in the United States, we could have paid for our own essential requirements in America without borrowing." But this is a different matter from requiring British security of the debts of continental powers, though it may be contended with force that the indebtedness of Great Britain was in great part incurred in behalf of its allies through the pooling of resources which the war made necessary.

It is doubtful whether progress will be made on the assumption that one set of debts is to be paid promptly and in full, and another set canceled or put off to the Greek calends. A more reasonable plan is for payment according to ability, but without penalising debtor governments for such thrift, energy and rigorous taxation as may have kept them relatively solvent. A satisfactory settlement is hardly possible on the theory that each account is a separate business transaction, to be dealt with on its merits. If Great Britain chooses to pass part of the burden along, the United States cannot well object.

Something To Think About

BY BRUNO LESSING

Everybody knows that Nero fiddled while Rome was burning.

One reason why everybody knows about this incident is that it isn't true. It's merely one of the old myths, like the story of William Tell and Pocahontas, that catch the popular imagination. But, as the Italians say, "se non e vero, e ben trovato"—if it isn't true, it's well conceived.

The incident is nearly always quoted for the purpose of illustrating callousness or cruelty. At times, however, I've wondered whether it does not more fittingly illustrate calmness and presence of mind.

The fire department of ancient Rome probably wasn't any great shucks. And when a district began to burn it was bound to burn itself out. Who knows but that Nero fiddled in order to prevent a panic? Who knows but that he was doing his best to keep calm in order to work out a scheme for rebuilding the burnt area—model houses, open Roman plumbing, etc? He probably wasn't. But who knows?

In the midst of the steenteenth conference of the English, French, Italian, Belgian and Japanese statesmen which took place in London the other day, the four latter envoys were shocked when Lloyd George announced that he was going to run down to his country place for the weekend. He had to preside over an exhibition of pedigreed goats.

The French, the Belgian and the Italian representatives were horrified. How could he think of goats when they were so intent upon replenishing their depleted treasuries? It reminded them of Nero fiddling etc.

The Japanese envoy, wise in his generation, said nothing.

European statesmen seem to have fallen into the conference habit. At these reunions each lays upon the table the demands of the country.

Thus far there has been no compromise, no sacrifice of the prestige, the claims or the territory of any of the big nationals. The spirit of these conferences has invariably been wrong. Each wants to get; none wants to give. All talk, charter, excitement—Rome burns. And the best thing that Lloyd George ever did in his life was to attend to his pedigreed goats.

It gave him time to think. It freed him, for the moment, of the surrounding atmosphere of greed, of vindictiveness, of hatred. Calmness, poise, detachment from the excitement or the panic of the moment seem to be Anglo-Saxon rather than Latin or Gallic traits.

And they were pedigreed goats, too.

I'll wager that when Lloyd George gets through and the historian of the future looks over the field, the great majority of goats in Europe will have little pride in the past.

Irish Favor Free State

Supporters Of Government Nowhere Estimated At Less Than 85 Percent Of Population—Impressions Of The Civil War

(Dublin Letter of Dr. John A. Ryan, now in America)

"Would you say that five-sixths of the people of Ireland are for the Free State?" "More, sir, more." This was the question that I asked, and this was the answer that I received from a resident of Cobh (Queenstown) the day I landed in that port. During the two weeks that have since intervened I have put the same question to many sorts of persons from many parts of the country. The answer has almost invariably been the same. Sometimes the proportion of Free State supporters is placed as high as 98 percent, never below 85 percent. Ever since the elections in June, unprejudiced Americans have been aware that those who want the Free State comprise a great majority of the inhabitants of this island; probably not many realise the overwhelming character of that majority.

Two questions are suggested by this situation: How comes it that the insurgent forces are at all numerous and powerful? In passing, it may be worth while to observe that the men in rebellion against the Free State government are variously designated. They are called "Republicans" by themselves and their friends; "irregulars," with a small initial letter, by the government and probably the majority of the people, and I heard Michael Collins refer to them as "irregs." The second question is, by what process are the irregulars enabled to dominate a population that is at least nine-tenths opposition? That proportion favors the Free State even in the six or seven counties that have been under the control of the rebellious forces.

The answer to the first question is that the irregulars are not great in numbers, and that they are powerful only because they have arms in their hands. So far as I can make out, they are composed of three main elements: Those who believe that they are fighting for a sacred principle; those who are without intense convictions on the political issue, but who are deterred either by a mistaken sense of loyalty or by fear of abandoning their old leaders and comrades in arms; and, finally, a varied group of young men and boys who are willingly or unwillingly out of work, some of whom are criminally inclined. In all probability the two latter sections constitute the vast majority of the irregular forces. One indication of this condition is the frequency with which they abandon their positions without serious fighting at the approach of the National troops.

The irresponsible and semi-criminal element in the irregular army is exhibited in the wanton destruction of buildings and other property, and in their disregard for the rules of warfare and the laws of humanity. In most cases these outrageous performances are entirely without military value, as they do not appreciably hinder the operations of the Free State forces. Their most important results are immense hardships and suffering for the civilian population, and enormous losses to the various political jurisdictions, through the destruction of public buildings, records, etc.; for example, the Sligo custom house was burned by some of the irregulars after their organised forces had been driven from the city. It has been estimated that the cost of restoring the property already destroyed by the irregulars "would provide a decent house for every workingman who has to rear his family in a filthy tenement room, and a decent house and farm for every hovel-holder in the congested areas."

The answer to the second question is simple: The communities in which the irregulars hold sway are terrorised. Ten armed men can hold in subjection a hundred who are unarmed. While in Cork, I was assured that the townspeople are coming to detest the irregulars more than they detested the Black and Tans. This was the judgment of a prominent priest.

In the procedure of the irregulars "commandeer" has become a more blessed word than ever was "Mesopotamia." They subsist by "commandeering" buildings and supplies of all sorts from the shopkeepers and from the farmers. Sometimes they go through the form of giving a receipt in the name of the "Irish Republican army." Sometimes they neglect this bit of pleasantry. In practically every case the goods are taken without the consent of the owners, a circumstance which is not without significance as regards the attitude of the civilian population toward this rebellion on behalf of the "republic." Of course, the process is plain looting.

The merchants who are thus robbed naturally refuse to replenish their stocks. Even if they were willing to do so, they would in a large proportion of cases be unable to obtain new quantities of goods, inasmuch as the railways have been cut and the roads obstructed between the subjected cities and the main sources of supply. As a consequence, the people are suffering extreme hardship. In Limerick a large section of the population was for a few days on the verge of starvation. When I was in Cork, July 10, more than 10,000 persons were out of employment, and the number must have been considerably augmented since that date.

The suffering and helplessness of the people in the areas held by the irregulars are a striking illustration of the truth that, for a time at least, a small armed minority can defeat the will of the majority.

These propositions are hotly contested by the "idealists" who are in favor of the insurgency. To them it is a great and heroic struggle on behalf of a "principle." In their minds the principle at stake is the right of the nation to complete political independence. Many times since my arrival in this country have I heard the exclamation, "There is too much idealism in Ireland!" There is much talk about "the soul of the nation," "selling the nation for ignoble peace and comfort," "continuing the nation in the bonds of political slavery," and similar rhetoric and buncombe which convey no realistic idea, but which unfortunately have a real power to delude and mislead persons who do not take the trouble to analyse either the content of these bombastic phrases or the realities of the present political situation.

To a political realist this sort of idealism is a gross perversion. The "idealists" are engaged in the attempt to clothe the political principles with the sanctity of ethical

The Chemistry Of Power

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest.

I have seldom seen a more convincing exposition of fundamental practical science of universal importance to humanity than is contained in a recent address by Dr. L. H. Baekeland, the chemist. His subject was the human direction of power. The beauty of his address is in its logical array of facts. Most of these facts are well enough known to all intelligent people, but few have the grasp upon them needed for putting them together and discovering their combined meaning.

Dr. Baekeland calls upon his fellow chemists to "turn again to the sphere of action where we truly belong," and to "try anew to become apostles of construction instead of destruction; soldiers of progress, peace and happiness."

Let me point out one of the directions in which he sees the way of progress open, if only we will take it. After recalling the incalculable benefits bestowed upon mankind by Louis Pasteur through his investigation of the processes of fermentation, which incidentally brought about a revolution in sanitation, surgery and medicine, Dr. Baekeland makes this highly interesting statement:

"Industrial alcohol is another chemical industry in the United States which seems susceptible of an incomparably wider development as soon as it is less hampered in a more efficient commercial production and easier distribution. The ignorant multitude does not class alcohol as a chemical industry. Most people cannot see in alcohol anything but its use or abuse as a beverage.

And yet, outside of such uses, there is hardly a chemical susceptible of wider and more beneficial application in the arts, the industries and the household economies. Furthermore, its sources of supply embrace all inexpensive starch or sugar-containing vegetables, as well as the waste of our sugar refineries—all products of which America has a prodigious supply.

"Converting our perishable farm products into products like alcohol, which can be stored indefinitely and of which the transportation and handling are easy, is one of the ways of equalising the uncertain fluctuations of the yield of our crops. Long after every drop of petroleum or gasoline will have been extracted from our wells every yearly agricultural crop will insure us a new supply of this valuable liquid fuel, obtained by fermentation of starch or sugar-containing liquids. . . . Justly or unjustly, this whole industry has been under the ban of social prejudice on the part of people who, in their zeal, cannot discern between the drink evil and an indispensable chemical industry."

Now, let us turn to the purely scientific aspect of the matter. Dr. Baekeland reminds us that this liquid fuel, which, being far less volatile than gasoline and mixing readily with water, is not only cleaner but incomparably less dangerous, whether used in the household for heating or illuminating, or in a motor car or stationary engine for locomotion, is simply a part of the stored-up energy of the sunlight, like coal and petroleum.

In short, it is a gift from the sun, the one great storehouse in our corner of space for energies of all kinds. It is a product of "photo-chemical synthesis"—i.e., constructive chemical action under the influence of light. "No sun, no photo-chemical synthesis; no photo-chemical synthesis, no crops; no crops, no life!" This, slightly expanded, is Dr. Baekeland's rubric.

Upon this delicate photo-chemical reaction, as he says, the whole living world is dependent. The action of the sun's rays under the influence of the chlorophyl, or green coloring matter of plant leaves, brings about the most subtle creative chemical process. "Carbon dioxide, a product of combustion, one of the ultimate destruction products of plant or animal life, combines with water under the action of sunlight.

"Dead matter re-enters the process of life. The first, or one of the first, products of this synthesis is formaldehyde" (a colorless gas made up by the combination of one atom of carbon with two of hydrogen and one of oxygen); "the latter in its turn inaugurates a succession of further chemical syntheses which result in the formation of sugars, starch, cellulose and other carbohydrates."

There is the great natural process that chemical science must unlock. But up to the present time it is "a field where the scientist or engineer has accomplished next to nothing. In the utilisation of this marvelous energy we have not gone much beyond the art of making photographs!"

We can only echo Dr. Baekeland's call: "Where is the Faraday, the Ampere, the Leonardo da Vinci, where is the Archimedes, who shall show us how to use the sun's rays for charging our electrical storage batteries, or teach us to handle the photo-chemical action of sunlight, or to emulate nature in her synthesis of plant life?"

Irish Favor Free State

principles or religious principles. To give up, even temporarily, the armed struggle for a republic is to their minds morally wrong. It is as immoral as to compromise with murder, or theft, or adultery. To accept the Free State is as bad as to accept a corrupted form of religious faith. Obviously this is pure fanaticism.

The person who is able to distinguish between political forms and principles on one hand and the forms and principles of religion and morality on the other hand, will not permit himself to forget that the former are merely means to human welfare. Keeping in mind this fundamental truth, he will realise that in some situations human welfare can be better promoted by partial independence. The latter is not an end in itself. Whether it is the best means to the real and valuable end, namely human welfare, depends upon the facts of the existing situation. In Ireland today the pertinent facts are that through the Free State the Irish people can safeguard and promote their welfare, physically, intellectually, morally and spiritually, quite as thoroughly and as extensively as they could if they had an independent republic.

The sincere Republicans are idolising abstractions. There is something Hegelian in their worship of "the republic." It was the the doctrine of Hegel that all reality is identical with the "absolute idea," or the "world spirit," and that the highest outward manifestation of the world spirit is to be found in the state. Therefore, he concluded, the individual is a mere means to the aggrandisement of the state. Similarly the extreme Republicans have deified "the republic," and they demand that the Irish people shall sacrifice themselves to this fiction. The gospel of republicanism has become almost a new form of Pantheism.

No one would accept the proposition of minority rule, regardless of the character of the minority. The political aristocrat contends for rule by the minority, but he has in mind a minority composed of "the best," of superior persons like unto himself. He believes that the superior few know what is good for the people better than do the people themselves, and therefore that the superior few have a moral right to impose their will upon the majority. On the principles of aristocracy this position is entirely logical.

But Mr. De Valera and his friends profess to be Democrats. How they can reconcile democracy with their present denial of majority rule, they have never vouchsafed to explain.

League Note Clears Up Opium Misunderstandings

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Sept. 25.—It appears that the system of import certificates recommended by the Opium Advisory Committee of the League of Nations at its meeting last May and subsequently approved by the Council and Assembly of the League has not been clearly understood by certain Governments, and the present note (by the Secretary-General) is being circulated for the purpose of removing misunderstandings and explaining the exact scope and object of the system.

The control of the import and export trade in dangerous drugs is one of the most important parts of the system established by the International Opium Convention for the prevention of the abuse of dangerous drugs.

Unless an effective control of the import and export trade can be established, effective national control becomes exceedingly difficult if not impossible; and the import and export trade can only be effectively controlled if there is close co-operation between all the countries concerned.

The system of import certificates was devised by the Opium Advisory Committee in order to give full effect to the provisions of the Opium Convention in regard to the control of imports and exports, and it was unanimously approved by the Council and Assembly of the League.

It is hoped that all countries concerned will consent to adopt it and put it into full force at the earliest possible moment. Until that is done the efforts of the different countries and of the League itself to control the traffic are greatly impeded.

It will remembered that the system of import certificates recommended by the Advisory Committee provides as follows:

"Every application for the export to an importer of a supply of any of the substance to which the convention applies shall be accompanied by a certificate from the Government of the importing country that the import of the consignment in question is approved by that Government and is required for legitimate purposes. In the case of the drug to which Chapter III of the Convention applies the certificate shall state specifically that they are required solely for medicinal and scientific purposes:"

The system has a two-fold aspect, thus:

a.—If a dealer in dangerous drugs in country A desires to import a supply of drugs from Country B, he must in the first place obtain from his own Government a certificate that the import of that particular consignment of drugs is approved by the Government and is required for legitimate purposes (or, in the case of morphine, heroin, cocaine or medicinal opium that it is required solely for medicinal or scientific purposes) and must forward the certificate with or in support of his order to the exporting firm in country B.

The Government of country B will not issue its licence for the export of the consignment of the drugs to country A until the certificate has been produced to it by the supplier in country B from whom the drugs have been ordered.

b.—Conversely, if a dealer in dangerous drugs in country A desires to export drugs to country C, the Government of country A will allow export only on the production of a similar certificate from the Government of country C that the particular consignment desired to be exported is required in country C for legitimate purposes (or for medicinal or scientific purposes, as the case may be), and that its import is approved by the Government of country C.

It will be seen that by adoption of this system country A is protected against the export of dangerous drugs from country B for improper purposes, as the Government of country B will not allow export to country A except on approval of the government of country A and secondly, that the government of country A has a guarantee that the dangerous drugs are not being exported from its own territory to other countries for improper purposes as it will only allow the export of drugs with the approval of the government of the importing country, and on the assurance that the drugs are required for proper purposes.

The system is based on the assumption that every member of the League controls the export of dangerous drugs from its own territories by prohibiting the export of drugs except with the licence of the government.

It may be pointed out here that in order to carry out the scheme recommended by the Opium Advisory Committee and approved by the Council and Assembly of the League, it is necessary that a separate licence should be required in respect of each consignment of drugs exported. It is obvious that the granting by a government of general export licences to exporting firms, which would leave the latter free to export any quantities of the drugs to any persons in any countries would not be sufficient to carry out the obligations which the government has undertaken by the International Opium Convention.

International Opium Convention, 1912.

Certificate of official approval of Import.

I hereby certify that the Ministry of . . . be the Ministry charged with the administration of the law relating to dangerous drugs to which the International Opium Convention of 1912 applies has approved the importation by (name, address and business of importer.)

a.—(Exact amount and description of drug to be imported).

b.—(Name and address of firm in exporting country from which the drug is to be obtained).

c.—(State any special conditions to be observed, e.g. not to be imported through the post).

Subject to the following conditions.

d.—. . . . and is satisfied that the consignment proposed to be imported is required:

1.—For Legitimate purposes (in the case of raw opium).

2.—Solely for medicinal scientific purposes (in the case of drugs to which Chapter III of the Convention applies).

Signed on behalf of the Ministry of. . . . .
Signature.
Date. Official Rank.

Where the use of prepared opium has not yet been suppressed and it is desired to import opium for this purpose a certificate should be given to the effect that it is required for the purpose of smoking under Government restrictions pending complete suppression and that it will not be re-exported.
